Adapt to Survive Keeping Up With California Employment Laws by Robin Noah

Are you an employer at risk? Do you have concerns about possible legal action against you or your company for failing to comply with labor law such as the new expanded parental leave law? In today's business climate change is everywhere. You need to ADAPT TO SURVIVE. Employers need an effective way to document and report the required data in order to avoid costly fines and other penalties. This workshop will review the most critical issues and most common areas where small businesses put themselves at risk. Join us as we look at new labor laws and the process of maximizing compliance to reduce the risk of legal action.
